Dear Mrs. Manley:

Since writing on May 11th I have had no further word from you about your uniforms; neither have we received the order or specifications, and I am wondering when you are going to send this in.

We are still terribly swamped in our clothing factory and in order to get these suits out in time for your needs we will have to get them in work quickly.

I hope to hear from you shortly and, kind regards.

Cordially yours,

W. L. Robb
